CAS51D-C2: measuring range in COD reference standards

CAS51D is a photometric sensor which is appropriate for the measurement of organic load in wastewater through SAC that is a representation of a specific absorption coefficient (1/m) correlated with COD/BOD254nm or TOC/DOC254nm.

Hereby we state that the CAS51D-C2 photometric sensor version can measure a maximal measured value of 700 mg/l, measured with the COD reference standard KHP as media.

The performance characteristics of CAS51D-C2 are valid for the stated measuring range in the technical documentation.
